Rahn+Bodmer Co. plans for the future and augments its Executive Board

The private bank is expanding its Executive Board as of 1 January 2025. The HR and organisational changes ensure that the company will remain ideally positioned in a constantly changing market environment in future.

The new Executive Board structure will allow Rahn+Bodmer Co. to maintain an even more consistent focus on the needs of its clients. Martin Bidermann, partner at Rahn+Bodmer Co., says: “Our personalised, holistic customer advisory service throughout all life’s stages and events is what sets us apart in the market. Together with our clear focus on the Swiss market and comprehensive investment expertise, it forms the basis of our success. The Executive Board formed on 1 January 2025 will allow us to continue to play a leading role in the future.”

Client Advisory gains a new Head with vast experience

Since July 2024, the Executive Board has been chaired by Urs Angst, who previously also successfully led the Client Advisory Division. From 1 January 2025, he will hand over the management of Client Advisory to Thomas Weckemann to focus entirely on his role as Chairman of the Executive Board. Thomas Weckemann has been with the company since 2022 and is characterised by his extensive experience in direct client contact and people management.

New Wealth Planning Division – intergenerational solutions

Tiziano Foiera joins the Executive Board as Head of the new Wealth Planning Division. He has worked for the bank since 2017. Wealth Planning provides advisory services for pensions, estate and tax planning, as well as foundations and property, and will continue to work closely with Client Advisory. The creation of a separate division for this service highlights the strategic importance that Rahn+Bodmer Co. attaches to these topics in addition to traditional asset management and investment advice.

Executive Board as of 1 January 2025

The Rahn+Bodmer Co. Executive Board also consists of Stefan Glättli (Finance, Risk & Operations), Grigor Scartazzini (IT) and Thomas Steinebrunner (Extended Executive Board, Legal & Compliance). Since November 2024, the Extended Executive Board has also included an experienced HR professional, namely Corinna de Maddalena.
